

Large Storms Destructive in Western Areas

LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)— Large storms slashed a trail of destruction across northwest and southern California as a wave of violent weather struck the West. Estimated damage ran as high as $10 million in Utah.

Children drowned in central flash floods which were as the worst in that sector since 1951. A fast-moving dumped from 6 to 15 inches of rain along the eastern slopes of the Rockies and in the plains states.

Storm winds in Utah off the Wasatch Mountain range caused widespread in a heavily populated area from Salt Lake City to Tremonton, on the border.

At least 10 people were hurt in winds of up to 92 miles per hour. Houses, uprooted and smashed thousands of a dozen trucks and buses were flipped over.
Traffic for several hours halted on the highways.

Force of hurricane force accused a freak weather pattern in southern California. Rain, snow and lightning storms in Los Angeles caused crops in the lush Valley suffered damage at a quarter of a million.

Winds fanned a score of in northern California forest fires. An estimated 6,000 acres were threatened some highways. U.S. 50. One woman died when a tree fell onto a truck in the High Sierra area.

Winds cleared today in and Wyoming, but sub-zero temperatures during the night in icy coating of snow.

cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church will take part in the dedication of the National of the Immaculate Conception shrine next month.

for 30 years, cost about $10 million. It is the largest church in the country measured by cubic footage and is the seventh largest in the world.

The church is located on the site of the Catholic University in Washington.

Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, will dedicate the shrine and offer Mass morning of Nov. 20.

Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston, will preside at the Mass for the shrine on the evening of the 21st.

WORK IN EARTHQUAKE VALLEY—A tractor-shovel burrows through a mass of rock and dirt, part of about 43 million tons that were shifted in the Aug. 17 earthquake in Yellowstone National Park. U.S. Army engineers are building a spillway through a giant dam formed across the Madison River when the slide occurred. The impounded waters must be released to avert another disaster. The slide may also hold bodies of victims unlisted in the known toll of nine dead.

Cites Mistake of Ignoring Civil Rights

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A headline in the sand attitude toward civil defense "could be the most tragic mistake in our history," state Civil Defense director Owen Payne said yesterday.

Payne, speaking before the annual meeting of the Arkansas Women's Civil Defense Council, said such an attitude is one of the main obstacles to a successful civil defense program.

Mrs. E. B. Adcock of Conway told the some 100 delegates from clubs and other organizations around the state that every American family must be prepared to take care of itself for at least two weeks after any nuclear attack on the United States.

Payne criticized people "who refuse to participate in a CD program because they feel it is useless."

"We must start from the premise that there is a definite need for civil defense—that it can happen here and that there are things that can be done," he said.

A report to the council said more than six billion dollars worth of critical materials have been stockpiled in 200 strategic locations about the country as a precaution.

Payne said the council should be more active in promoting civil defense. He said the council

Telephone Hearing Reset for Nov. 9

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A lengthy hearing on a proposed cut in telephone rates in Arkansas will resume Nov. 9 before the state Public Service Commission.

The session was recessed yesterday after attorneys for Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. examined PSC witnesses.

The PSC contending that Bell's earnings were excessive, ordered the firm last spring to show cause why its rates shouldn't be reduced by about three million dollars a year.

Bell denied its earnings were excessive and countered with a request for a $150,000 annual increase in fringe rates.

A Cousin of Truman to Attend Dinner

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Retired Army Maj. Gen. Ralph Truman, cousin of former President Harry S. Truman, arrived here today to attend the Democratic Harmony Dinner.

Truman, who was in command of the 35th Division at nearby Camp Robinson during the early part of the World War II campaign, made no mention of the controversy over segregated seating at the dinner in Barton Coliseum tonight.

He expressed a warm regard for Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

"I am proud to say that both Gov. and Mrs. Faubus," he told newsmen, "are personal friends of Mrs. Truman and myself. Gov.
Faubus served with me and has one of the most outstanding records of any man in the service. I am proud to know him."

Since his retirement, Gen. and Mrs. Truman have spent much of their time in travel around the nation. The general said trips to many states this year had convinced him that "as of now," the country is in a state of "peace."

The general's wife is the former Miss Olive Johnson, a native of Sebastian County. She once worked for the Southwest American in Fort Smith.

Frederic Martin of Hot Springs, the only Negro who attended a similar dinner here in the spring of 1958, said today he does not plan to be present tonight.

At the time of the 1958 dinner, racial tension apparently was greater here than it now is.

Martin sat at a table with white persons.

A small group of segregationists left the dining room before the meal started because of his presence, but there were no other incidents.

Martin is a former Hot Springs alderman and a one-time member of the Democratic State Committee.

The charges were lodged after a boy fled the school last week in a series of escapes. All nine have been recaptured.

Two automobiles were stolen here after the escape. The cars later were recovered.

The boys who fled guilty to the charges were transferred to the penitentiary where Leonard Roberts, 17, of M. County; Jimmy Furman, 17, of Marion; Ronnie Wayne Smith, 16, of Clark; and David Smith, 17, of Humphreys.

Plane With 27 Aboard Missing in Virginia

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)— A two-engine Piedmont Airlines plane apparently crashed Friday night in a rolling farm and woodland area a few miles north of here. But searchers could find no sign of the missing DC3 or the 27 persons aboard.

Authorities believed the plane went down soon after it radioed the airport tower here for landing instructions. It was scheduled to land five minutes later.

State police and Civil Air Patrol teams combed three Virginia counties, centering the ground hunt near the hamlet of Ruckersville.

There were two unconfirmed reports that residents had heard the sound of a low-flying plane and then what could have been an explosion.

The flight 249, began in Washington, D.C. It was to have continued to Roanoke. There were 24 passengers and 3 crew members aboard.

Piedmont authorities withheld release of the passenger list pending next of kin notification.

CAP teams from several Virginia areas converged on the area.
Force authorities planned to begin an air search today.

About 100 CAP members and another 100 volunteers participated in the search during the night. Four mobile ground units toured the area as the search parties ran down leads.

NEW YORK (AP)—Ten freight-ers of a shipping line were lying idle in various ports today, with their crewmen charging through their union that they have not been paid.

Eight of the ships are in East and Gulf Coast ports and two overseas.

"Thirty-two crewmen of one ship, the Pacific Wave, are stranded temporarily in Haifa, Israel.

Official of the line were not immediately available for comment.

The union said it had advance money to the crewmen for expenses.

The 7,200-ton Pacific Wave ran out of fuel last Thursday. Shipping sources said $20,000 worth of fuel was needed for the ship to return to Texas.

Another ship, the Pacific Ranger, also is moored in Haifa.

Claude Simmons, assistant secretary-treasurer of the union, said but not owned by the World the Pacific Ranger was operated by the Pacific Agencies and that the actual owners would bring the ship back.

The union is inquiring, he said, fuel was needed for the ship to into the actual ownership status of the Pacific Wave.

Simmons identified the other idle ships as the Pacific Navigator, in Boston; the Pacific Star, in Norfolk, Va.; the Pacific Carrier, in Baltimore, Md.; the Pacific Tide and Pacific Explorer, in Mobile, Ala.; the Pacific Ocean, in Port Arthur, Texas; and the Waldo and Pacific Thunder in Houston, Texas.

Simmons said the situation first came to light when wives of crewmen began complaining to the union that they were not getting their pay allowances. Crew-men with families often arrange that part of their wages be paid in allotments directly to their homes.

Lion Leader to

Martin Soderquist, district governor of Lions International, will pay an official visit to Hope Lions Club Monday, November 2. Mr. Soda-quist, a resident of Texarkana for 13 years, is very active in civic affairs. Purpose of his visit to the local club is to assist and advise President W. L. Tate and Secretary Lloyd Leverett in Lion administration and program activities.

Halloween Can Be a Time of Fun Instead of Destruction, a Time of Frolic, Not Disaster

By MARY ANITA LASETER

This is the night for goblins and ghosts.
And all through the dusk old witches are seen.
Beware of black cats and devilish fauls.
For this is the night we call Hallowween.

Every land has its abundance of folklore which includes yarns about ghosts and witches as well as other tall tales. These stories are not confined to people in any one type of terrain, though the mountain folks seem to find special delight in them.

Shakespeare wrote of witches chanting "Double, double, toil and trouble" as they stirred a magic brew in a steaming cauldron. And who can ever forget Washington Irving's Headless Horseman? By comparison the writers of weird stories today are almost pikers.

Almost.

Through the years we have gotten away from Halloween as it was once intended. Although the customs were pagan, it was the least celebrating the triumph of Christian Saints over Paganism.

The word, Halloween, means eve of all hallow or all saints day.

About the eighth century, Pope Gregory III designated Nov. 1st as the anniversary of all saints' day. Ever since that time, some of our Christian churches have set aside this day to honor the saints. Most Protestants, however, don't observe All Saints' as a church holy day.

The originators of the observance of All Saints Day probably never realized how the eve would be marked in the 20th century.
But even now Halloween can be a time of fun instead of destruction, a time of frolic instead of disaster.
Care and consideration can mean the difference. We would all do well to take the following statement to heart.

"Old Lady Superstition is harmless enough on her own. In fact, she adds a little salt to our everyday living. Only when superstition consorts with ignorance to cloud reason does she become dangerous."

Conscience Wins, Man to Pay His Debt

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A debt to society, and to his conscience, drew Eli Miller back to Hot Springs after he reached the embarkment point on a one-way journey to Israel.

Miller, 71, and his wife, who waited for society to collect his debt. He has paid his conscience.

This is the story, as told by Police Chief John Erney.

Miller, a native of Hungary who has lived here since 1920, sold his second hand store before leaving for Israel. When he reached New York, he decided to come back.
Then he admitted buying goods stolen from another merchant, Charles Weaver. Weaver owns four small jewelry stores and now is a patient in a hospital.

Miller went to the hospital and gave Weaver a check for $2,500, his life savings, although he confessed to having bought only $600 or $700 worth of goods, all over the past year.

Police charged Miller with receiving stolen property. He has refused to let friends make bond for him, officers said, and also said he wouldn't be surprised if he died in jail from a chronic heart condition.

Johnnie Phillips, 63, a Negro who had worked for Weaver as a porter, also is in jail, charged with grand larceny.

After talking with a brother in Brooklyn, Miller said he decided to come back and surrender to authorities and make restitution to Weaver. He said he changed his mind about going to Israel because he lives and doesn't go to prison, plans to make his home with the brother.

Miller, whose first wife died and whose only son was killed in a traffic accident, has been married and divorced three times.

"I knew I had done wrong," he said, "and I wanted to give myself up. I feel much better since I've gotten it off my soul."

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP)—Striking members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers have received money and groceries from two St. Louis locals of the union today.

A truckload of groceries and the money was brought here yesterday and distributed among the 275 workers of Local 1434 which struck the American Oil Co. refinery four months ago. George O'Brien, vice president of Local 14, and Ken Finerty, president of Local 8194 in St. Louis delivered the aid and provided more help if needed.

No new meetings between union and management have been scheduled. Previous negotiations deadlocked. The dispute is over working conditions.

Claims the Soviet Vaccine Better

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—A University of Cincinnati researcher said today tests on 12 million Russians have proved his live virus polio vaccine is more effective than the killed virus Salk vaccine.

Dr. Albert Sabin, 53, said the Soviet tests indicated his vaccine provided immunity to 85 per cent of those receiving it, compared with 60 to 70 per cent for Salk's.

Dr. Sabin, in an interview while attending the annual meeting of the American Society of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene, said the field tests were made in the Soviet Union because millions of persons already have received Salk vaccine in the United States.

The Sabin vaccine is taken by mouth, while the Salk vaccine is injected.

The government contends the strike is affecting national health and safety. It fought the union's request for a review, saying the constitutional arguments are "clearly without merit" and "there is no need for further review by this court."

If the Supreme Court had declined to hear the case, it would have left standing the ruling of a Philadelphia appeals court that the injunction is legal and valid.
The appeals court had upheld the original decision of a Pittsburgh federal judge who issued the injunction.

Oklahoma to Close Book on Mass Murder

By MAC SEREE
United Press International TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Oklahoma is ready at last to close the books on one of the most sordid tales of mass murder in the annals of crime — the infamous "Osage reign of terror" of the 1920s.

The state Pardon and Parole Board recommended this week that a parole be given Ernest Burkhardt, a central figure in the string of killings of wealthy Osage Indians three decades ago.

The board approved clemency when Burkhardt showed he had been promised a $600-a-month job as a ranch hand at Wagon Mound, N.M. He promised to "never set foot in Oklahoma again."

Actual granting of a parole will be up to Gov. Howard Edmondson.

Burkhardt was one of three men who planned to get rich by gaining the oil rights of the Osage tribe. He was a systematic succession of slayings.

FBI Enters Picture
The ringleader was W. K. Hale, a wealthy and influential cattleman known as "King of the Osage Hill." Also involved was John Darrin, a cowboy on the Hale ranch.

Agents of the infant Federal Bureau of Investigation—working undercover—helped bring the trio to justice.

Burkhardt was Hale's nephew and husband of Mollie Brown, an Osage. Murders of her relatives had left her as heir to their wealth, and she had a yearly income at the time of $135,000 a year.

It was popularly believed she would have been killed next if the slayers had not been tripped up. Burkhardt would then have inherited her fortune, with Hale, his uncle, gaining ultimate control.

In less than a year, there were more than 20 inexplicable deaths from shootings, bombings and illnesses among Osages close to the Brown family.

Chain Tightens
The FBI was sent for, because some of the killings occurred on federal land.

Slowly, as officers worked, the circle of evidence grew tighter.
Around Hale and his henchmen, First Ramsey gave a confession admitting his part in the bombing which killed three. He charged Burkhardt set off the explosion.
Hale was named as the man behind it all.

Tried in a state court, Burkhardt pleaded guilty to conspiracy in the explosion and was sentenced to life. Hale and Ramsey were found guilty in Federal court. In 1927, Hale, 72, and his fortune gone, was paroled from Leavenworth penitentiary. He was last reported in Miles City, Mont. working as a bartender. Ramsey, officials say, also was paroled from Leavenworth and was last reported at Boise, Idaho.

Burkhardt was paroled in 1937 but was convicted of 10th time years later and was returned to prison.

$150,000 Damage
Suit Is Filed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A $150, 000 damage suit has been filed against a Porter woman in connection with a traffic accident here April 25.

Named in the suit is Mrs. L. D.
Huchingson, an employee of the State Welfare Department.

Plaintiffs are Mrs. Ruth Carr, a Negro of North Little Rock, and her son Robert, 14, and Frederick Hatcher, Little Rock Negro.

The suit filed yesterday, said the Carr boy was riding in a car driven by Hatcher when it collided with Mrs. Huchingson's auto at an intersection. Hatcher and Huchingson, the defendant's parents, said the plaintiffs were seriously injured.

ing steelworkers back to work for 80 days.

This means the 109-day-old strike will continue at least until next week, when the court makes its decision on whether to let the

DOROTHY DIX

He Won't Play at Being Congenial Stepfather

Dear Dorothy Dix:

My first marriage ended in divorce and I was granted custody of our small daughter. After a few years I met a charming man, fell in love with him, and we were married. We have a small apartment. I've kept my job and pay all my child's expenses as well as contributing to the upkeep of the house. In spite of all my cooperation, hubby isn't satisfied. He says my daughter is a spoiled brat, that he can't stand the sight of her, and is going to walk out on us someday. I'll admit the child isn't disciplined. After all, it was all I could do to support her. I didn't have time for training. I could send her to her father and his people. They would keep her and give her a home atmosphere, but I'd never see her again. I am a nervous wreck trying to please everyone and find a way out of this dilemma. Hopeful

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have a regular babysitting job for two kids who simply will not mind. If I speak to their mother about it, she just laughs. Another thing that bothers me is that her kitchen is always in a mess. Am I supposed to do her dishes or just the ones I use to feed food for the children? — Winnie

Lighter Side of Life Over the World

By FRANK ELEAZER

United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After the private meeting and started I was mighty glad I left my topcoat and hat outside at the check room. No umbrella on me, either. Thank goodness. And with a shopping bag, I would surely have died.

I did go in with folded newspapers under my arm, and may be that's why some of the cops were looking so small-eyed.

This was billed as a shoplifting clinic, though if the security measures meant anything not a single booster was present. Just local merchants, at least 300 of them. With fire in their eyes they packed into a downtown ballroom. And no wonder. They lost 12 million dollars to light-fingered shoppers in 1958 and so far this year are doing no better.

1. Don't do it. Big brother may be looking. With a new closed-circuit TV he can watch the whole store, and you'll never know until he starts unloading your pockets.

2. Especially don't do it at Sears, Roebuck & Co. stores. A Sears security man said they've got a fine, new, simple policy on apprehended shoplifters. Prosecute 'em, man, woman and youth.

The depths to which shoplifting will sink to heist a pair of nylon socks or a 50-cent necklace you would never imagine. Some of the trickier techniques were demonstrated.

These ranged from the "baby ratchet," wherein mama simply packs away soft goods in and under the blanket, to "booster bloomers," into which dextrous lady shoppers annually are said to be stuffing tons of whatever isn't nailed down.

Then there's the suitcase racket (the box the customer carries is wrapped, tied and safe as a bank, except for the trap door in the bottom): the coat over the arm (also over the puffed pants, shirt and $2 tie); the hat (which has been known to house more than a head); the shopping bag (especially when it has a false bottom); the closed umbrella (this is an oldie); and even the newspaper under the elbow (which also can hide phonograph records and cheese).

Some tip-offs for sales clerks were given.

"Watch the customer's eyes," was one piece of advice. "Detectives say the eyes tell almost everything about a dishonest person's intentions."

"I diverted my gaze to the floor," I watched a customer's hands. "I watched mine in my lap."

"Watch the nervous customer who is ill at ease."

Idabel Mars Homecoming for Yerger

By PAT CARR

The Washington High School Wildcats of Idabel, Oklahoma, spoiled the Yerger High Tigers' homecoming last night on a rain-soaked field 20-0 at Hammons Stadium.

Yerger received the opening kickoff at the 20 yard line and moved to the 43 and fumbled at that point where the visitors recovered. Idabel failed to gain yardage and punted from their 41. The Tigers were in possession again on their own 20. The Yerger offense failed to click and they were forced to punt. A short endover and kick was caught by Davis on the Yerger 43. Scates hit Collins at the 18. With a first in goal situation at the 6, Davis crossed over for the touchdown. Fields converted safely to put Idabel in the lead, 7-0.

Yerger couldn't find the combination to penetrate the Wildcats' defense and had to punt in succession. A Tiger punt was partially blocked by the Idabel forward wall on the Yerger 6 yard line. Johnson mustered over from the three. The PAT failed. The Wildcats threatened again as Charles moved from his own 40 to the Tiger 9. On the next play H. B. Reed intercepted an Idabel pass at the 3 and returned it to the 19 as the first half ended with the visitors leading

THE STORY: The trial of Sara Volinger on manslaughter charges in connection with the death of her husband is underway.

CHAPTER X

Sara tried to tell the jury how it would hurt Timmy if, later, other children taunted him, just as she herself bore scars. The room was as quiet as if empty after she finished and sat down again between Ray and the policeman. Then she heard a whisper from close behind the railing.

"You know I believe she's telling the truth." A woman's voice. She heard also the response, a man's low growl. "Hmf, I always said you was a sucker."

The case ended next day. In his summing up, Ray spoke in a voice so persuasive that Sara hardly recognized it as his. Standing directly in front of the jury box, he described in the most vivid terms the persecution Sara had gone through in her childhood and how at the moment of her son's firing a real gun in childish ignorance she had foreseen the same persecution for him. Even Sara saw that the jury was moved.

An hour later, the jury returned to the courtroom and the judge finally read the verdict aloud. "... find the defendant, Sara Volinger, not guilty."

The next words Sara heard came from behind the railing: "That's what money can do." A man's voice.

Judge Grant had promised to let Ray know his decision about Timmy and it might not be for several days and of course, Ray said, it would be during office hours.

But feelings didn't go by office hours. They weren't turned on at nine in the morning and off at five in the afternoon. She pushed the phone back on the shelf. She must do as Ray told her; she might antagonize the judge into a hasty decision against her.

John called her about going to Brazil on the warehouse case, but she couldn't think of going now.

It was the fourth day after the end of the trial when Judge Grant himself called her. Would she come to his office in the Juvenile Building?

For 20 happy minutes Sara grove and smiled to herself. She would ask Judge Grant to telephone Jocelyn so there would be no trouble. Then she reached the office of the judge of juvenile court.

"Mrs. Volinger," Judge Grant said, after motioning her to a chair, "this is a little irregular, but under the circumstances, I wanted to talk to you privately, to explain why I have awarded 13-0.

Idabel was deep in Tiger soil again at the 7 yard line with 4th down and two, but the Yerger line, spear-headed by Orin Knox, and Everett Edwards held and took over on downs at the 8. The Wildcats blocked and recovered another Tiger punt at the Yerger 20 yard line. Scales spotted Gully for the third and final touchdown of the night.

Late in the final period Floyd Turner recovered an Idabel fumble due to a wild snap from the wildcat center for the first break of the game for the Tigers as they were in command at the Idabel 20 yard line. This break was thwarted by the Wildcat defense paced by White, Perryman, and Scales at the 19. About 10 seconds remained in the game when a Yerger 40 yard touchdown pass was nullified by a penalty. The final score was 20-0 with the visitors on the long end.

Miss Mary Jefferson, a Junior High, was team captain James McFadden during half time ceremonies. The Yerger team will play Stamps tonight at Stamps and will journey to the city next Saturday to meet the Horace Mann Bearcats, a team which has yielded only 6 points all season.

Timothy to Mrs. Reagan Volinger permanently? Sara full her face lighter. She must have misunderstood, she must have.

"But Judge Grant, you can't. Not permanently." Her throat muscles closed and then her jaw twitched.

"Let me explain, Mrs. Volinger. Whether I think you guilty or innocent isn't important. But public opinion is high in the belief that you are not innocent. And such a public opinion would not give your child a fair chance with you. Everyone my probation office talked to, except your own character witness and lawyer, believes that you killed your husband and blamed it on the child. And with all the people around it believing this, the child could not grow up in your presence with a well-balanced outlook."

"Judge Grant, I'll take Timmy away," she got out. This time she was in a straight chair, with her feet on the floor. If she could keep her chin from quivering, she could speak with some dignity. "I'll take."

"Let me finish, please, Mrs. Volinger. The jury, you realize, by acquitting you did not prove that you were a fit mother to rear your child. The acquittal meant only that there was not sufficient evidence to prove beyond a reasonable doubt your guilt of murder."

"But I have to see him!" Judge Grant was shaking his head. "A clean break is best to avoid confusion in the child's mind."

"But when—can't I ever—?" "Now wait, Mrs. Volinger. High feelings eventually die down. And when that time comes—if it comes, I'll reconsider. It could be a year, it could be two, but to arrive at an arbitrary time, let's say I'll entertain an appeal in six months."

But even when Judge Grant stopped talking she still sat there staring at him. She couldn't live six more months without Timmy. Timmy wasn't dead, like Kim. She could get him back. She could if she only knew how! "Now you mentioned taking the boy away. I suppose you mean to another city?"

"Yes, I'll take him some place far away. I could even take him out of the United States. To Brazil. I've been doing translations for an insurance company and they want me to go there on a temporary job. I—I could stay."

Judge Grant was running his fingers up and down a pencil. He began nodding his head. Sara straightened. "Taking a job is an excellent idea," he said. "Take the trip! Alone of course. I don't offer running away as a resolution to the whole problem, but it's possible that when you return you'll be less emotional. Perhaps the public will be mellowed." He stood.

"But Judge Grant, in the meantime, Timmy?" She had to get these things spoken. "Jocelyn and Vee hate children and—"

"Mrs. Volinger," he interrupted, moving toward the door, "I don't intend to discuss it any further now. If you wish, let me hear from your lawyer in six months."

Vaccine Supply Said Inadequate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's supply of polio vaccine is now believed to be adequate. The Public Health Service, in reporting this today, said the number of paralytic polio cases last week continued the downward trend from the peak period.

Dr. Leroy E. Burney, surgeon general, said 193 cases were reported for the week ended Oct. 24 as compared with 225 paralytic cases the previous week and 332 at the peak Sept. 10.

A total of 4,974 paralytic cases has been reported so far this year as compared with 2,386 for the same period in 1958 and 9,005 in 1955 when the Salk vaccine first became available.

LOVE at FIRST SIGHT

Remember, when you watch small children play, that they are among the greatest of God's gifts to the world. He holds a special love for them all... love at first sight. "Take heed," Jesus once said, "that ye despise not one of these little ones." Divine regard was also made clear when the Disciples ask of Jesus: "Who is the greatest in the kingdom of Heaven?" Every man should well know the parable Jesus used that day to teach them the place He holds in His kingdom for our little ones. Oh, Lord, may we show our love by taking them to church, by teaching them that God's way should be their way, that they are the greatest in the kingdom of heaven.

You In The Church
The Church In You
-- form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.
